

There has been an explosion of entrants to the ranks of the wealthy in recent years.

Members of wealthy families continue to be mobile and base themselves in diverse jurisdictions.

The continuing globalisation of private and institutional wealth is driving the development and expansion of financial services. Careful consideration of where to base your or your clients' structures is more important than ever.

Complexities in cross-border tax and estate planning require teams of advisors and professionals based in multiple jurisdictions in order to deliver the best advice and service levels possible. Very often it is not possible for one firm to provide all the required services and strong working relationships amongst unconnected firms become crucial.

Guernsey has much to offer international businesses and high net worth individuals alike.

Choosing a suitable partner within Guernsey is important to establishing an efficient and beneficial level of service.

Guernsey Trust Company and Collas Crill are well versed in your and your clients' requirements and have a long history of providing first class service.
